Tips for Filling Your Summer Break with Fun & Learning Part 3

- Play games that require children to count. Board games, card games, or whatever it is, they'll be using their math skills! Make sure to limit "screen time" to no more than one hour per day. Too much time spent on video games and computers will have a negative effect on their learning, physical health and social skills.
- Go camping! There is so much to learn from nature. Tell stories around the campfire and sing songs. Take hikes in the woods. Stroll along the beach. ENJOY YOUR SUMMER!
